Welcome to the Cornell Community & New Student Orientation!

We hope Orientation will be the first of many great Cornell memories for you. We’re happy you’re here!

As your fellow students, we know what it’s like to arrive at Cornell for the first time. It can take time to find your way around and get all the information you need. At Cornell you’re part of a large, diverse, and vibrant community. Orientation will help you meet new people, begin to explore campus, learn about amazing opportunities, and make discoveries that will become part of your Cornell experience.

We’ve recruited hundreds of student Orientation Leaders who have volunteered to help you make this transition. Your OL is a student from your college who will meet with you and others in a small group. OLs can answer your questions, show you their favorite spots on campus, and help you meet other new students. During Orientation you’ll also get to know residence hall staff, advisors, faculty, and others who are ready to share information.

Orientation is an opportunity to try something new, talk to people you don’t know, learn about Cornell’s values and expectations, and ask any question you need answered. We hope you’ll keep doing these things throughout your time at Cornell.

We wish you the best as you embark on your Cornell experience!

Your Orientation: Friday, 8/23, Through Wednesday, 8/28

Cornell’s Orientation is designed to help you settle in to your new community, learn about Cornell’s values and policies, discover campus resources, and have fun. Required and optional programs are carefully planned to help you get off to a great start on campus.

You must attend all required programs, and we encourage you to do so with curiosity and an open mind, ready to engage and to be engaged by others. We hope you’ll take advantage of Orientation’s many open houses, social programs, tours, and other events as you get to know your new campus. Your college will host a series of events where you’ll meet students and staff, and learn about academic practices and requirements.

As you create your Orientation schedule, please take into account events not included in this guide, including the swim test, placement exams, and your Intergroup Dialogue Project session.

After Orientation ends, you can look forward to CU Downtown on Saturday, September 7, when new students visit the Ithaca Commons to get to know our local vendors while Cornell student bands, dancers, and others provide entertainment. ClubFest, Sunday, September 15, will introduce you to student clubs and organizations—you can continue to pursue past interests and try something new. Other social and information programs keep the introduction to groups and activities going during the weeks after Orientation ends.

Cornell is a diverse and vibrant community where you will find innumerable ways to get involved and develop your skills and passions. Look for inclusive opportunities, and make it your mission to include other students in projects and opportunities while you’re here. We hope you continue to explore and ask questions throughout your time at Cornell.

Icons in the Orientation guide will tell you if an event is required and who it is for: first-years, transfers, and/or exchange students. Events with no icon are open to all.

For disability accommodation, contact New Student Programs (nsp@cornell.edu; 607.253.4282). Visit disability.cornell.edu/visitors.cfm for information on campus accessibility.

Orientation App
Download Cornell Connects, the official Cornell Orientation app, from your favorite app store in August. Use the app to view complete event descriptions and to customize your orientation schedule with required events and any optional events you choose to attend. Learn more at ccengagement.cornell.edu/augustorientation. Remember, only the official Cornell Orientation app has the complete and accurate information you need for the best possible Orientation!

Note that this publication does not include event descriptions. For event descriptions see Cornell Connects, which has mobile and web app options (https://us.orientationapp.com).

Orientation Leader Meeting #1: First-Year Students [R] [F]
7pm–8:15pm • for location see below

Meet your OL! Your Orientation Leader knows what it’s like to be new at Cornell and will help you meet other new students, learn about your college, and find out about student life and resources at Cornell. Bring your questions! During this meeting you will plan the location for your second and third OL meetings. After the meeting, you can head to Sunday night social events together.

You’ll find your OL by going to your college quad or another common area. When you get to your location, you’ll see volunteers holding signs with letters of the alphabet on them. Go to the sign that includes the first letter of your OL’s first name. Is your OL named Jamie? Look for a sign that includes the letter “J.” Is it Samira? Look for “S.” From here you’ll be directed to your OL, who will be holding a sign with their name on it. Questions? Look for the person holding a “HELP” sign. Find your OL group as follows:

Agriculture and Life Sciences: Walk the loop around the Ag Quad
Architecture, Art and Planning: Meet outside of Sibley Hall on the Arts Quad
Arts and Sciences: Walk the loop around the Arts Quad, starting with “A” in front of Lincoln Hall, “M” by Olin Library, “Z” at White Hall, and everything else in between Dyson School: Meet at the end of the Ag Quad close to Kennedy Hall
Engineering: Meet at Pew Engineering Quad
Hotel School: Meet at Peter Plaza by the Heracles sculpture
Human Ecology: Meet at the plaza in front of Bailey Hall
ILR: Meet at the upper ILR Quad by Ives Hall
